

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A method of increasing the rate by which maximum adhesivity of a denture adhesive
5 is achieved comprising the steps of:
- (a) applying a denture adhesive to a denture;
 - (b) wetting said denture after application of the denture adhesive to the denture; and
 - (c) inserting said denture in the mouth.
- 10
2. The method of claim 1 wherein the denture adhesive is in the form of a cream, gel, powder or liner.
3. A method of increasing the rate by which maximum adhesivity of a denture adhesive
15 is achieved comprising the steps of:
- (a) wetting a denture,
 - (b) applying denture adhesive to said denture; and
 - (c) inserting said denture in the mouth.
- 20
4. The method of claim 3 wherein the denture adhesive is in the form of a cream, gel, powder or liner.
5. A method of increasing the rate by which maximum adhesivity of a denture adhesive is achieved comprising the steps of:
- 25
- (a) wetting a denture;
 - (b) applying denture adhesive to said denture;
 - (c) rewetting the denture after application of the denture adhesive to the denture; and
 - (d) inserting the denture in place in the mouth.
- 30
6. The method of claim 5 wherein the denture adhesive is in the form of a cream, gel, powder or liner.